

Figure 14: Primary Sources of Total Phosphorus (TP) within Incremental Catchments in The Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers subbasins. The primary source in each of the incremental catchments was defined as the source contributing the greatest percentage of the total load in the incremental catchment. Other sources are also usually present in each catchment, but in smaller proportions.

Graph shows percent of incremental TP load from all sources in each watershed.